

Dismissal Denied In Bradley Suit

Davey's Attorney Loses Motion in Court.

Motion to dismiss the $500,000 damage suit brought by Lee Bradley, Cleveland, self-styled "million dollar contact man" for former Gov. Martin L. Davey, against the firm of Forrest, Towel and Supply Co., was overruled Tuesday by Judge Robert P. Duncan.

The dismissal action was instituted by Davey's attorneys because of Bradley's "disobedience of an order" to appear for taking his deposition.

In overruling the motion to dismiss the suit, Judge Duncan explained that William B. Bartels, attorney for Bradley, failed to have his client at the deposition hearing through a misunderstanding. He said that Mr. Bartels thought that the case had been continued for a week.

Must Produce Bradley

Judge Duncan said he would dismiss the motion if Mr. Bartels would produce Bradley for the taking of his deposition.

"All you have to do is to set the date and I will have him here," was Mr. Bartels' reply, as he left the room en route to Florida where he will spend the remainder of the week.

Date for the deposition hearing has been set for next Tuesday. Bradley's suit alleged he was falsely arrested last year on a perjury charge filed by Davey in Cleveland, as a result of his appearance before a senate investigating committee.

A Cuyahoga county grand jury refused to indict Bradley. The damage suit followed.

Mr. Bradley did not show up at the hearing and his attorney refused to reveal his whereabouts.

Governor Davey was represented by John M. Carron, his secretary while he was governor.

DEMOGRATS MEET

Sixteenth Ward Democratic club will meet Tuesday, at 8 p. m., at 2325 North High street to elect officers and to hear Municipal Judge Francis P. Howard.

Einstein May Hold Key To Gravitation Mystery

Source of Matter and Energy May Be Cleared Up By Scientist's New Findings.

NEW YORK, MARCH 14.—Professor Albert Einstein, the scientist, announced today he had discovered a new solution of the riddle of gravitation.

The riddle is the unknown cause of gravitation and its connection with electricity, matter and magnetism. Professor Einstein kept the solution secret, explaining that it would be tested with actual experiments.

The announcement was made in a birthday interview—Einstein is 60 today—to L. E. Levick of the National Association of Science Writers, and released through the association.

Einstein thinks he has discovered the clue to a long-sought single law that will explain the structure of the entire universe and all the mysteries of matter and radiation.

Gravitation is the missing link. Everything else, scientists have suspected, will become clear if someone can learn how gravitation originates.

Science already has proof that all matter is made of discreet particles which seem to be electricity.

It knows how electricity travels through space and matter. It knows that wherever there is electricity, magnetism appears, and vice versa.

It knows that both electricity and magnetism travel in the form of waves, although seeming to be made of particles, that both can have the speed of light, and that both spread everywhere in "fields" the same as gravitation has a "field."

Finally science has evidence that all rays, from light to radio and cosmic and including heat, are only electro-magnetic waves. There are a few laboratory experiments proving that these "rays" are converted into solid matter.

In this way the mystery of the source of matter and of energy has seemed complete, all except fitting gravitation into the puzzle.

Two years ago Einstein announced that he had a tentative solution which he described as the idea that a particle of solid matter was a "bridge between shells of space." However, that solution did not work well enough to explain all matter.

A year ago Einstein, in a book, announced evidence that the known "fields," that is electricity, gravitation and magnetism may be the "only reality." Everything else, including matter, would be some combination of the "fields."

Dear Ward:

After signing the contract, it occurred to me that it would be interesting to note how long your firm has serviced Kroger in we are entering on our eighteenth year of pleasant business relationships.

In the press of daily business we sometimes are prone to accept exceptional service in a more or less matter of fact manner, and to fail to make suitable recognition of a "Job well done." I say I am deserving of the highest praise, neat, clean, attractive, and that it service and quality linens with which you have serviced us throughout these years has permitted us to maintain an unusually high standard of cleanliness in our stores.

We are happy to renew this contract and hope that we may have the pleasure of many more years of mutual business relationships.
